Exporter Honorees—Presenting

Advantage Controls—Oklahoma
“So You Want To Be An International Salesperson?”
Chris Morris, Senior VP of Global Sales

Session Description: If you google “key ingredients for international sales success,” you will find top three, top five and top ten lists from a variety of sources. Do differences exist between sales success in domestic and international markets? During this session, learn about information on key fundamentals that guide sales success for Advantage Controls and the trifecta of support that is needed to sustain that performance.

Company: Founded in 1994, Advantage Controls is a family-owned and operated business located in Muskogee, Oklahoma. Serving customers in the industrial water treatment market, Advantage Controls manufactures automation controls, chemical metering pumps, timers and accessories used for water treatment. A key driver of growth for the company has been the delivery of exceptional customer service and global market expansion.

Export Awards/Recognition: Advantage Controls is a recipient of the U.S. Department of Commerce Export Achievement Certificate and in 2014 received the Governor’s Award for Excellence in Exporting for the state of Oklahoma.

Air Tractor—Texas
“The Important Role of Financing to Support Export Expansion”
Jeff McClatchy, Sales Administrator

Session Description: As population and income growth continue in emerging markets across the globe, U.S. companies must go where sales opportunities exist, to compete in the increasingly global business environment. In addition to playing an active role in making the sale, many companies are finding they must also engage in the structuring of financing and monitoring of payment performance of buyers. Learn how using financing solutions such as EXIM’s working capital loan guarantee, export credit insurance and portfolio lending has allowed Air Tractor to increase sales, revenue and net income -- and expand the company’s worldwide footprint.

Company: Located in Olney Texas, Air Tractor, Inc. manufactures agricultural and firefighting aircraft. For Air Tractor, exporting is not only core to company growth, it is central to job creation and economic growth in the rural North Central Texas community in which it resides. In 2018, Air Tractor sold 141 airplanes of which 89 (63%) were international sales.

Export Awards/Recognition: Air Tractor, Inc. is a recipient of the U.S. Department of Commerce Export Achievement Certificate.
Aventure Aviation—Georgia
“Exporting Rhapsody – Battling To Win From the Front Line Trenches”
Zaheer Faruqi, President

Session Description: Trying to keep up with other exporters . . . or chasing international business leads that seem too good to pass up may take a company into the twilight zone and ultimately, be a recipe for disaster. With experience gained from 18 years of entrepreneurial experience and successful expansion into 45 countries, attend this session to gain insights into how you too can capture new business and better manage some of the unique problems faced by exporters every day.

Company Description: Aventure Aviation is a major parts supplier for commercial and military aircraft. The company was started in 2001 in Georgia and has successfully been growing their business while selectively choosing global markets and international customers that now account for 70% of sales revenues.

Export Awards/Recognition: Aventure Aviation was recognized as the SBA Exporter of the Year for the state of Georgia and the Southeast Region in 2009. The company is also a five-time recipient (2013-2017) of the Georgia GLOBE Award.

Equilibar, LLC—North Carolina
“Minimizing Payment Risk While Growing International Sales”
Julie Detmering, Customer Service Manager

Session Description: Verifying the creditworthiness of customers can be a challenge, especially in developing markets, or when dealing with new customers that may lack the credit history and resources of larger more established businesses. In this session gain insight into the financial resources and strategy that Equilibar utilizes to support the growth of its export sales to businesses and research teams located across the globe. Learn how financial tools, such as those provided by EXIM Bank, have provided security and convenience to support the company’s international sales objectives.

Company Description: Equilibar, LLC designs and manufactures specialty fluid control instruments for cutting edge research facilities and industrial corporations across the globe. Equilibar’s patented back pressure regulators and vacuum control valves have played a key role in green energy efforts, water remediation systems, and numerous other projects that have made the world a better place. Headquartered in the Appalachian Mountains near Asheville, NC, Equilibar relies on a small team of dedicated professionals who enjoy learning from and working with people from different countries every day. More than one third of the company’s sales are export sales.

Export Awards/Recognition: Equilibar, LLC was nominated by the North Carolina SBDC as a 2019 Outstanding Exporter honoree.

ImmunoReagents, Inc.—North Carolina
“Building a Strong Export System”
Joy Mitchell, Sales & Marketing Manager

Session Description: Vetting customers, building distributor relationships, and using customer courier accounts are among the key ingredients that have contributed to international sales success for ImmunoReagents, Inc. Gain insight into how you too can build a strong export foundation that positions your company to minimize issues and maximize opportunities to compete in today’s dynamic global business environment.

Company: ImmunoReagents, Inc. is a global manufacturer of antibodies and reagents. The company has been in business since 2005 and currently exports antibody products and reagents to customers and distributors in Europe, China, Japan, Mexico and Brazil.
